

From: John Transue
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/28/02 2:46pm
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Microsoft is clearly a monopolist and stifles competition. A deeper punishment is vital to the industry and also to retain the authority of the government in anti-trust matters.

Microsoft is predatory and parasitic. They are incredibly arrogant about this case. The DOJ has to demonstrate that the US is a country of laws not of men. They have been found to be monopolists. Do the right thing and punish them. Don't let their wealth, power, and treachery get them off the hook.

They frequently make changes to their OS and applications for no reason other than to diminish competition.

Please do the right thing and punish Microsoft.

Sincerely,

--

John Transue
Assistant Professor
Department of Political Science
Duke University

transue@duke.edu
(919) 660-4336